Seam Collection

DESIGNED BY ADAM CORNISH

Through a simple series of cuts, folds and joins, Seam is materialised with elegant and precise form. The Seam collection was conceived with a design process not dissimilar to the way in which a piece of fabric is tailored into a form-fitting garment, a refined 'seam' along the spine of the chair making reference to a seam detail used in garment construction. The result being a unified series characterised by clean lines, fluid contours and refined design detail – contrasted by an inherently robust construction and hard-wearing tactility.

Spanning commercial to residential applications including hospitality, breakout, alfresco and balconies, the Seam collection is designed for outdoor use, though is equally at home indoors.
